Synovos Named Amongst “20 Most Promising Enterprise Asset Management Solution Providers 2017” by CIOReview

FREMONT, CA — Synovos, based in Radnor, PA, has been recognized as among the elite group of companies that are featured in the Enterprise Asset Management special edition of CIOReview magazine.

“Synovos is shortlisted to the list of 20 Most Promising Enterprise Asset Management Solution Providers 2017 by CIOReview magazine based on its expertise in providing innovative software solutions and facilitating return on investments through strategic relationships, services and programs,” said Jeevan George, Managing Editor of CIOReview

“We are honored for the recognition from CIOReview for our Synovos SYNC™ technology,” said Tony Kashani, Executive Vice President for Synovos. “We believe this technology will change the way companies incorporate the MRO supply chain into enterprise asset management. It is a clear differentiator from anything else available in the market.”

Synovos provides technology-driven, comprehensive supply chain services, asset services and technology that drive increased productivity, profitability and global competitiveness for clients. Synovos has built in-depth knowledge from the industries it serves, including life sciences, chemical processing, food processing, general manufacturing, newspapers and printing, colleges and universities among others.
